

April 1, 2011

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Subject: Recommendations

Sharon Consultative and Research Management served as the Consortium Lead for the Nigeria Rural Investment Climate (RIC) Surveys in the three (3) Nigerian States of Lagos, Kano and Enugu located in three diverse geo-political zones. The assignment commenced in September 2010 and was concluded within the first quarter of 2011.

Throughout the assignment, Mr. Udemé Ukpong and the Project Manager, Mr. Ema Edison, made substantive contributions towards achieving the objectives of the assignment.

The work assignment incorporated the management and technical implementation of the surveys, monitoring, evaluation and reporting of project activities as well as budgetary responsibility and delivered very high quality results. RIC Surveys are extremely complicated including community, households, and enterprises.

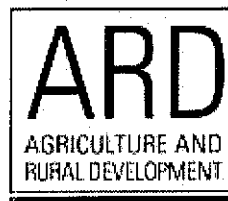

Mr. Udemé Ukpong and Mr. Ema Edison have consistently been very competent and dynamic team members with heavy workloads plus efficient task management. Tasks were completed with professionalism to the full satisfaction.

I would also like to highlight that the assignment had serious challenges which were surmounted through the enthusiasm of the core team and willingness to learn very fast. The team handled them well and provided high quality of survey data.

It is thus without reservation that I extend my recommendations for the core team of Sharon Consultative and Research Management.

Sincerely,

NAOTAKA SAWADA, PhD
ECONOMIST
Agriculture and Rural Development
World Bank
1818 H Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20433
Tel: (202) 458-0210
www.worldbank.org/ard